5. SCOPE OF OUR LEGAL SERVICES

The scope of the services we will provide is set out in the Client Care Letter.

We will provide legal advice and services to you with reasonable care and skill. However, the nature of many types of legal work means that it is not possible to guarantee a particular outcome.

Unless otherwise agreed in writing, we will advise only on English law.

We do not advise upon surveying, valuation, commercial viability, trading or marketability issues and we will only advise on the tax implications of any instructions we receive from you if this is specifically and expressly agreed to do so in writing between us.

If you ask us to obtain advice from another law firm, that firm will be responsible for the service and advice they provide.

Unless otherwise agreed in writing, our advice and any documents we prepare:

- are for use only in connection with the specific matter on which we are instructed, can only be relied on by you; and
- reflect the law in force at the relevant time.

6. DUTIES TO THE COURT

All solicitors have a professional duty to uphold the rule of law and the proper administration of justice. If your matter involves court proceedings we must comply with our duties to the court, even where this conflicts with our obligations to you. This means that we must not:

- Attempt to deceive or knowingly or recklessly mislead the court

- Be complicit in another person deceiving or misleading the court
- Place ourselves in contempt of court
- Make or offer payments to witnesses who depend on their evidence or the outcome of the case

We must also comply with court orders that put obligations on us and ensure that evidence relating to sensitive issues is not misused

7. LIMIT OF OUR LIABILITY

Unless explicitly agreed otherwise, in writing:

- we do not owe, nor do we accept, any duty to any person other than you; and
- we do not accept any liability or responsibility for any consequences arising from reliance on our advice by any person other than you.

We are not responsible for any failure to advise or comment on matters falling outside the scope of our instructions, as set out in these Terms of Business and the Engagement Letter.

We have professional indemnity insurance giving cover for claims against the firm. Details of this insurance, including contact details of our insurer and the territorial coverage of the policy, can be inspected at our office or made available on request.

It is a condition of our professional indemnity insurance that we notify our insurer and/or broker of any circumstances which may give rise to a claim against us. In doing so, we may disclose documents and information to our insurer, broker and insurance advisers on a confidential basis. Our insurers and brokers are contractually obliged to keep all information we pass to them strictly confidential.

Our maximum liability to you (or any other party we have agreed may rely on our services) in relation to any single matter or any group of connected matters which may be aggregated by our insurers will be £3,000,000 including interest and costs unless we expressly state a different figure in the Engagement Letter. If you are in any doubt as to whether such a limit is enough to cover your potential losses from any negligence or breach of contract on the part of AmicusLaw or its agents, you should contact the person in charge of your matter immediately to discuss it. Agreeing a higher limit on our liability may result in us seeking an increase in our charges for handling your matter.

We will not be liable for any of the following:

- losses that were not foreseeable to you and us when this contract was formed;
- losses not caused by any breach on the part of the firm; and
- business losses, including losses sustained by any individual not acting for purposes of their trade, business, craft or profession.
- losses attributable to fraud perpetrated by any person whether a party to this transaction or otherwise.

Nothing in these Terms of Business shall exclude or restrict our liability in respect of:

- death or personal injury caused by our negligence;
- fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation;
- any losses caused by wilful misconduct or dishonesty;
- any other losses which cannot be excluded or limited by applicable law.

Details of our Public Liability Insurance provider are displayed at each of our offices or are available on request.

8. LEGAL RESPONSIBILITY

The partners of AmicusLaw collectively assume legal responsibility to you for all the work carried out on your behalf by partners and employees of AmicusLaw.

9. COMMUNICATION

We will communicate with you by such method you request, usually by letter, telephone or email. Should you wish to meet in person after your initial meeting please telephone to make an appointment.

Whilst email is a convenient way of communicating it cannot be guaranteed to be secure. We have sophisticated virus detection systems but cannot guarantee complete protection. You should therefore scan any attachment received from us with up-to-date virus detection software of your own. We will not be responsible for any loss or damage caused to a client's computer, other hardware or software, resulting from an email sent by us.

Communication by letter, email and mobile phone also runs the risk of interception which could lead to a breach of confidentiality. We will always do our utmost to protect your confidentiality.

10. CANCELLATION RIGHTS (Individuals Only)

If we have not met you face to face and you have instructed us away from one of our offices (i.e. by post, telephone or email) you have the right to cancel the contract within 14 days by giving notice in writing in accordance with the Consumer Contract Regulations 2013. However, if you have instructed us to take any action on your behalf you will be liable for any costs incurred to that date.

11. CHARGES, ESTIMATES AND EXPENSES

Our charges are based on the following:

- The work undertaken;
- The time spent;
- The value of the property or assets;
- The urgency and/or complexity of the matter.

The current hourly rates for our Fee Earners vary according to their level of seniority and experience. We will confirm by letter the hourly rate and the method by which our costs will be calculated for your matter. We hope it will not be necessary to change the person responsible for your matter for any reason but if it is, we may need to revise the hourly rate and you will be advised accordingly.

If we have not agreed a fixed fee with you at the outset, we will provide an estimate. If it is not possible to advise you of the overall cost at the outset, we will provide you with as much information as possible together with updates as the work progresses. You may ask, at any time, for details of the costs and other expenses incurred to date, and an estimate of the further costs to be incurred. We will agree with you, at the outset of the matter, how often we will send you an invoice for the work undertaken. We can also agree with you a ceiling figure and/or review dates if you so wish.

We reserve the right to increase the hourly rates if the work done is particularly complex or urgent, or the nature of your instructions require us to work outside normal office hours. If this happens, we will notify you in advance and agree an appropriate rate.

We may ask you to pay a sum of money at the outset of the matter on account of our costs and/or the expenses, disbursements or counsels fees to be incurred. If we do not ask you to place us in funds to cover payments made on your behalf at the outset of the matter, we may ask you to reimburse us as the expense is incurred.

If we transfer funds electronically via Chaps/Bacs or Faster Payments, there will be a disbursement charge of £35 plus VAT added to your account.

If any payment (whether for costs or expenses, disbursements or counsels' fees) is not received following a reasonable request made we are entitled to terminate our instructions to act on your behalf until such time as payment has been made.

12. OUR CHARGES AND BILLING

You are liable to pay the legal costs and expenses as set out in our letter confirming your instructions and all bills should be paid in full by you upon delivery unless we have agreed with you otherwise in writing.

We may deliver our bills to you electronically. Please let us know if you have any particular requirements for delivery of our bills.

Please inform us if you would like a third party to be responsible for paying our bills or any part of them. We must approve this in advance, and we will need the party's name, contact details and any other information or identification documents we request.

Even if a third party has agreed, or been ordered, to pay the costs and other expenses incurred on your behalf the bill will still be addressed to you and you will remain personally liable should that third party not pay when the money is due. For the purposes of the Contracts (Rights of Third Parties) Act 1999, or any subsequent amendment thereto, these Terms of Business shall not be enforceable by a third party.

If all or any part of our bill remains unpaid after 30 days we may charge interest on the outstanding balance, including other expenses. Interest will be charged at a daily rate of 8% above the Bank of England base rate in force from time to time.

Our bill may be paid by cheque made payable to AmicusLaw or by bank transfer. You may also pay by debit or credit card (except for American Express) by telephoning our Accounts department on either 01278 664060.

We may cease acting for you if an interim bill remains unpaid after 30 days or if our reasonable request for a payment on account of costs is not met.

You have the right to challenge or complain about our bill. Please see the 'Complaints' section below for details of how to complain about our bill.

You have the right to challenge our bill by applying to the court to assess the bill under Part III of the Solicitors Act 1974. The usual time limit for making such an application is one month from the date of delivery of the bill. If the application is made after one month but before twelve months from delivery of the bill, the court's permission is required for the bill to be assessed.

Unless there are special circumstances, the court will not usually order a bill to be assessed after 12 months from delivery of the bill, where a judgment has been obtained for the recovery of the costs covered by the bill or the bill has been paid, even if this is within 12 months.

If there is any aspect of our bill with which you disagree, in the first instance please discuss your concerns with the person with conduct of your matter and see s24, Complaints.

13. ABORTIVE TRANSACTIONS

If the matter does not proceed (whether we are working on a fixed fee or not) we will submit a bill for the work done up to that point in the matter or transaction. The bill will be such sum as is reasonable having regard to the amount of work done and will include other expenses we have paid or agreed to pay on your behalf, plus VAT where applicable.

We do, however, offer an abortive transaction scheme to residential conveyancing clients only. For an agreed 'up front' payment you will not be charged for any work carried out on your behalf should the transaction fail to reach completion due to another party being unable or unwilling to proceed prior to exchange of contracts. Further information regarding this scheme and how to join is contained in the client details form provided to all residential conveyancing clients at the outset.

14. BANKING AND RELATED MATTERS

We currently hold all client money in Lloyds Bank PLC which is regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA).

We will pay a fair sum of interest to clients or third parties on client money we hold on their behalf.

We will not pay interest:

- on money we are instructed to hold outside a client account in a manner that does not attract interest, e.g., cash held in our safe;
- where the amount of interest is less than £50;
- where we agree otherwise, in writing, with you or the third party for whom the money is held.

Please ask us if you would like to see our written payment of interest policy.

Please be aware that we do not notify changes to important business information by email, and neither will we accept any bank account details received via email. We will notify any significant changes by post or in person. We advise you not to rely on any bank account details sent to you by email and to check any changes notified by telephoning our accounts department. We will not accept responsibility for monies transferred by you to an incorrect account.

Please inform us immediately if you receive any email or other communication purporting to be from the firm stating that we have changed our bank details or payment arrangements.

We are not liable for any losses you suffer as a result of any banking institution being unable to repay depositors in full. You may, however, be protected by the Financial Services Compensation Scheme (FSCS).

The FSCS is the UK's statutory fund of last resort for customers of banking institutions. The FSCS can pay compensation up to £85,000 per banking institution (not per brand) if it is unable, or likely to be unable, to pay claims against it. You should check with your banking institution, the FCA or a financial advisor for more information on this and the short-term protection cover provided for certain high balances.

The FSCS also provides up to £1m of short-term protection for certain high balances, e.g., relating to property transactions, inheritance, divorce or dissolution of a civil partnership, unfair dismissal, redundancy, and personal injury compensation (there is no financial limit on protection for personal injury compensation). This is called the temporary high balance scheme and, if it applies, protection lasts for a maximum of six months.

The FSCS (including the temporary high balance scheme) will apply to qualifying balances held in our client account. In the unlikely event of a deposit-taking institution failure, we will presume (unless we hear from you in writing to the contrary) we have your consent to disclose necessary client details to the FSCS.

More information about the FSCS can be found at <https://www.fscs.org.uk>.

15. FINANCIAL SERVICES

We are not authorised by the Financial Conduct Authority. However, we are included on the register maintained by the Financial Conduct Authority so that we can carry on insurance distribution activity, which is broadly the advising on, selling and administration of insurance contracts. This part of our business, including arrangements for complaints or redress if something goes wrong, is regulated by the Solicitors Regulation Authority. The register can be accessed via the Financial Conduct Authority website at www.fca.org.uk/firms/financial-services-register.

We are also not authorised by the FCA to provide investment advice services. If you need advice on investments, we may refer you to someone who is authorised by the FCA to provide the necessary advice. However, because we are regulated by the SRA, we may be able to provide certain limited investment advice services where these are closely linked to the legal work we are doing for you.

The SRA is the independent regulatory arm of the Law Society. The Legal Ombudsman deals with complaints against lawyers. If you are unhappy with any financial service you receive from us, you should raise your concerns with the SRA or Legal Ombudsman. See also section 24 ('Complaints').

16. PREVENTION OF MONEY LAUNDERING, TERRORIST FINANCING AND PROLIFERATION FINANCING

We are required by law to comply with the anti-money laundering regulations, and we will need to verify your identity. When you first instruct AmicusLaw you will be asked to present documentary evidence of your identity and you will also be asked to sign an Authority to Act which requests your address, date of birth and National Insurance number. If you are instructing us on behalf of a corporate body, trust or institution, we will also carry out additional checks to establish the identity of the directors and/or other officers, and such further checks as may be considered necessary.

We will undertake online verification checks on all individuals and companies that the firm represents (together with such other related parties to whom the firm is required to pay monies unless they are represented by another recognised professional body subject to the Money Laundering Regulations) at a cost of £15.00 + VAT per individual or company search. The costs of undertaking these checks are payable by you. This is not a credit check and will only leave a 'soft footprint' on an individual or company's credit file with a Credit Reference Agency and will not affect your credit score.

We are required to repeat all client e-verification every 12 months or upon receipt of each new instruction, which will incur an additional administration charge.

You must not send us monies other than the nominal sum requested on account of costs and disbursements until our checks have been completed.

Any identification documents received from you as part of our anti-money laundering process will be retained and stored in accordance with the firm's data retention policy, details of which can be supplied on request. This exceeds the period of 5 years specified in Regulation 40(3) of the Money Laundering, Terrorist Financing and Transfer of Funds (Information on the Payer) Regulations 2017. If you have any objection to this, please confirm in writing to the person with conduct of your matter.

All funds paid to us must come from an account in your name, other than those received from regulated bodies. If any sums are paid directly to us from a third party, they will not be released until such time that we have satisfactorily concluded formal anti-money laundering checks. In such circumstances we cannot be held responsible for any delays in your matter.

We may ask you to confirm the source of any money you have sent us or will send us. If you do not provide us with that information promptly, your matter may be delayed.

Any personal data we receive from you for the purpose of preventing money laundering, terrorist financing or proliferation financing will be used only for that purpose or:

- with your consent; or
- as permitted by or under another enactment.

We are professionally and legally obliged to keep your affairs confidential. However, we may be required by law to make a disclosure to the National Crime Agency where we know or suspect that a transaction may involve money laundering, terrorist financing or proliferation financing. If we make a disclosure in relation to your matter, we may not be able to tell you that a disclosure has been made. We may have to stop working on your matter for a period of time and may not be able to tell you why.

Subject to section 7 (Limit of Our Liability), we shall not be liable for any loss arising from or connected with our compliance with any statutory obligation, or reasonable belief we may have, to report matters to the relevant authorities under the provisions of the money laundering, terrorist financing and/or proliferation financing legislation.

Our policy is not to accept cash from clients or others in excess of £500 for any one matter. If cash is deposited directly into our bank, we reserve the right to charge for any additional checks necessary to establish the source of the funds.

Although we are professionally and legally obliged to keep client affairs confidential, anti-money laundering legislation can require us, in certain circumstances, to disclose information to the National Crime Agency under the Proceeds of Crime Act without any reference to you. If we know or suspect that funds arise from criminal activity and/or a transaction involves money laundering, terrorist financing, drug dealing, benefit fraud and tax evasion we have a duty to make a disclosure and prevented by law from informing you of the position. We will be required to stop working on your matter after the report is made.

At the end of your matter any monies due to you will be paid to you by cheque or bank transfer. We will not make payments to a third party.

17. CONFIDENTIALITY

We will keep your information confidential, unless:

- you consent to the disclosure of that information;
- disclosure of the information is required or permitted by law or regulatory requirements that apply to us; or
- these Terms of Business state otherwise.

Examples of organisations we may be required to disclose your information to include:

- the National Crime Agency;
- domestic and international tax authorities;
- regulatory authorities (such as the SRA).

Please bear in mind that it may be necessary to disclose information that would otherwise be confidential where it is necessary for the conduct of your case (e.g. to instruct Counsel or a mortgage provider), and to our insurers, or where required by our professional rules. We are also required by law in certain child protection cases to report any concerns we have to the authorities.

Where we are instructed to act on behalf of the mortgage company as well as on your behalf, we have a duty to report to the mortgage company any specific requirements that they may have together with matters which come to our attention during the course of the transaction where it may affect the mortgage company's valuation or decision to lend. By signing and returning the Authority to Act you confirm that we may report any such details to the mortgage company.

Unless you instruct us otherwise, email will be our default method of communication. We deploy a range of information security measures, but we cannot guarantee the security of information or documents sent by email. If you do not wish us to communicate information by email, please let us know.

Sometimes we ask other companies or people to undertake administrative tasks on our files (such as photocopying or typing) to help us deliver efficient, cost-effective legal services.

We may also ask other companies or people to provide specific business and compliance support, such as IT and Case Management Services.

We ensure all outsourcing providers operate under service agreements that are consistent with our legal and professional obligations, including in relation to confidentiality. Information on outsourcing in relation to your personal data is set out in our Privacy Notice which can be found at the end.

External organisations such as the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) or Lexcel auditors and the SRA may conduct audit or quality checks on our practice from time to time. They may wish to audit, or quality check your file and related papers for this purpose. We will require that these external organisations maintain confidentiality in relation to any files and papers which are audited, or quality checked.

Your files may also be reviewed in a due diligence exercise relating to the sale or transfer of all or part of our business, the acquisition of another business by us or the acquisition of new business. If you do not wish your file to be used in this way, please let us know as soon as possible.

18. PRIVACY AND DATA PROTECTION

Amicus Law is registered as a data controller with the Information Commissioner's Office, which is the regulator for data protection, and we have nominated Stephen Forsey as the firm's representative for the purpose of the Data Protection Act 2018 and the General Data Protection Regulations 2018 (and amendments). Our use of your information is subject to this and other relevant legislation and our duty of confidentiality.

We use your personal data primarily to provide legal services to you, but also for related purposes such as administration, billing and record keeping and to inform you of our services and events that we think may be of interest to you.

Our use of your personal data is subject to your instructions, the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR), other relevant UK legislation and our professional duty of confidentiality.

We take your privacy very seriously. Our Privacy policy contains important information on how and why we collect, process and store your personal data. It also explains your rights in relation to your personal data. The Privacy policy is available on our website at amicuslaw.co.uk but please contact us if you would like us to send a copy to you or if you would prefer us to explain our Privacy policy verbally. You will also find the firm's Privacy Notice attached to the Terms of Business.

We may record telephone calls and monitor emails for training, regulatory and compliance purposes.

We use third party service providers (including 'cloud' service providers) to help us deliver efficient, cost-effective legal services. This may include document/information hosting, sharing, transfer, analysis, processing or storage. We ensure all third-party service providers operate under service agreements that are consistent with our legal and professional obligations, including in relation to confidentiality, privacy and data protection. If you instruct us to use an alternative provider for storing, sharing or exchanging documents/information, we are not responsible for the security of the data or the provider's security standards.

We may use your personal data to send you updates (by email, text, telephone or post) about legal developments that might be of interest to you and/or information about our services, including exclusive offers, promotions or new services. You have the right to opt out of receiving promotional communications at any time, by contacting us in person, by telephone or in writing to any of our offices or to info@amicuslaw.co.uk

- using the 'unsubscribe' link in emails or 'STOP' number in texts

It is your responsibility to notify us of any changes to the personal data which we hold about you.

Further information concerning data protection is contained in the attached Privacy Notice and the Privacy Policy which can be found on our website at www.amicuslaw.co.uk/privacy.

19. CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

A conflict of interest may occur during a transaction where it becomes apparent that either we have an interest that conflicts with yours or you have an interest which conflicts with another client. Whilst we take all reasonable precautions to ensure that there is no conflict at the outset of your matter, on occasion, it may not be apparent at that time. We are not permitted to act or continue to act in a conflict situation, and you will be advised accordingly.

20. EQUALITY, DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION

AmicusLaw is committed to providing legal services to all clients regardless of age, disability, gender, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race (including ethnic origin, colour, nationality and national origin) religion or belief (including philosophical belief), sex or sexual orientation. Similarly, when instructing Counsel or others who provide services for clients, Amicus Law will not discriminate on any of the grounds referred to above. If we have reason to believe that your instructions are contrary to this, we shall require you to modify them and cease to act should you fail to do so.

If you would like any reasonable adjustments to be made to the service, you receive from AmicusLaw to assist you (such as providing printed material in a differing font or size) please speak to the person with conduct of your matter.

A copy of our Equality, Diversity and Inclusion Statement can be found on our website at amicuslaw.co.uk. A copy of the firm's Equality, Diversity and Inclusion Policy is available on request.

21. STORAGE AND RETRIEVAL OF FILES AND DOCUMENTS

We will store deeds and documents on your behalf without charge unless we consider it unnecessary, inappropriate or excessive. Reasonable notice will be given if we require you to remove your deeds and/or documents or if we plan to introduce a charge for their storage. This includes information and documentation obtained in accordance with section 16 above.

We store and maintain completed matters files for a minimum of seven years depending upon matter type. Many files are required to be retained for much longer periods of time. At present we hold some client files in paper copy only, some electronically and some as a combination of both. The firm is gradually migrating from using a paper storage facility for files to electronic storage on our case management system following which the paper file will be destroyed.

If we retrieve your file from storage, we will not usually charge. However, we may charge you for retrieving and copying papers that are requested. This charge is currently £50 + VAT but may vary in accordance with the level of documentation involved and the work requested by you.

After expiry of the appropriate storage period, we will usually destroy the file. If you do not wish your file to be destroyed after the appropriate period or require further information, please confirm this in writing to the person with conduct of your matter.

22. TERMINATING YOUR INSTRUCTIONS

You may terminate your instructions to us in writing at any time, but we are entitled to retain your papers and documents whilst there is money owed to us for costs and expenses. This is known as a lien.

23. CEASING TO ACT FOR YOU

We can only cease acting for you with good reason and, if this situation arises, we will give reasonable notice of our intention to do so together with an explanation. If you, or we, decide that we should stop acting for you, you will be liable for our charges up to that point.

If we hold money on your behalf, we will usually deduct any outstanding costs and other expenses from such sum before making payment to you, having advised you beforehand of our intention to do so.

24. COMPLAINTS

We hope that you do not have cause for complaint but if for any reason you are unhappy with any aspect of the service you have received or about the bill, you should first raise the problem with the person with conduct of your matter or their supervisor. You will find their contact details in our initial letter to you.

If you feel that the problem has not been resolved satisfactorily you should contact our Head of Professional Standards, Belinda Pennington at AmicusLaw LLP, 2 Fore Street, Wellington, Somerset TA21 8AQ tel: 01823 755800 email: belinda.pennington@amicuslaw.co.uk. Your complaint will be investigated, at no cost to you, in accordance with AmicusLaw's Complaints Procedure, a copy of which will be provided to you or is available on request.

We have eight weeks to consider your complaint. If we have not been able to resolve it for you within a reasonable period of time or if you are unhappy with the way in which your complaint has been handled, you may be able to complain to the Legal Ombudsman. Generally, this applies if you are an individual, a business with fewer than 10 employees and turnover or assets not exceeding a certain threshold, a charity or membership organisation with a net annual income of less than £1m, a trustee of a trust with an asset value of less than £1m, or if you fall within certain other categories (you can find out more from the Legal Ombudsman). The Legal Ombudsman will look at your complaint independently and it will not affect how we handle your matter.

If your complaint is not resolved to your satisfaction or you are unhappy with our conduct of the complaint you can refer it to the Office of the Legal Ombudsman which can be contacted at PO Box 6167, Slough, SL10EH. Tel: 0300 555 0333 Email: enquiries@legalombudsman.org.uk www.legalombudsman.org.uk.

The Legal Ombudsman expects complaints to be made to them within one year of the date of the act or omission about which you are concerned or within one year of you realising there was a concern. You must also refer your concerns to the Legal Ombudsman within six months of our final response to you.

Alternative complaints bodies such as ProMediate exist which are competent to deal with complaints about legal services should both you and this Firm wish to use such a scheme. At present we do not agree to use ProMediate or any other such body.

Even if you are not entitled to make a complaint to the Legal Ombudsman it does not prevent you making a complaint directly to us about the service you have received or the bill.

Some of the financial aspects of the work we carry out for you will be incidental to the legal work of the firm and are not therefore mainstream regulated activities and will be conducted in accordance with the rules contained in the SRA Handbook. If you have a complaint about a non-mainstream regulated activity, you should follow the procedure set out in the first two paragraphs of this section.

The Solicitors Regulation Authority can help you if you are concerned about our behaviour. This could be for things like dishonesty, taking or losing your money or treating you unfairly because of your age, a disability or other protected characteristic. You can raise your concerns with the Solicitors Regulation Authority.

25. JURISDICTION

Lawful Bases for Processing your Data

The law states that we are allowed to use personal information only if we have a proper and lawful reason to do so. This includes sharing it with others outside the firm e.g., an auditor of a relevant quality standard.

The GDPR says we must have one or more of these reasons:

- Contract: the processing is necessary for a contract we have with an individual, or because they have asked us to take specific steps before entering into a contract.
- Legal obligation: the processing is necessary for you to comply with the law (not including contractual obligations).
- Legitimate interests: the processing is necessary for our legitimate interests or the legitimate interests of a third party unless there is a good reason to protect the individual's personal data which overrides those legitimate interests.
- Consent: the individual has given clear consent for us to process their personal data for a specific purpose.

A legitimate interest is when we have a business or commercial reason to use your information.

The table below explains the ways that we may use your personal data, and which of the reasons we rely on to do so. Please note that the list is intended as guidance and is not exhaustive:

Special Categories and Criminal Convictions Data

Further to our lawful bases for processing personal data we rely on further conditions contained within the Data Protection Act 2018 (as amended by the Data Protection, Privacy and Electronic Communications (Amendments etc.) (EU Exit) Regulations 2019 and 2020) for processing these types of data. These conditions are contained in Schedule 1, Part 3 of the Act. The primary condition we rely on is known as “legal claims” where;

This condition is met if the processing:

- is necessary for the purpose of, or in connection with, any legal proceedings (including prospective legal proceedings);
- is necessary for the purpose of obtaining legal advice; or
- is otherwise necessary for the purposes of establishing, exercising or defending legal rights.

We would normally also rely on another condition in Schedule 1, Part 3 of the Act known a ‘consent’ where, due to the nature of these types of data we would obtain your consent prior to processing them.

If our reason for processing data is in connection with the Schedule 1, Part 2 of the Act, condition 18, safeguarding of individuals and children at risk. This is because the processing will be necessary for the purposes of:

- protecting an individual from neglect or physical, mental or emotional harm, or
- protecting the physical, mental or emotional well-being of an individual.

In this condition;

- in the circumstances, consent to the processing cannot be given by the data subject;
- in the circumstances, we cannot reasonably be expected to obtain the consent of the data subject to the processing;
- in the processing must be carried out without the consent of the data subject because obtaining the consent of the data subject would prejudice the provision of the protection.

Also, due to the nature of these data types, we comply with Schedule 1, Part 4 of the Data Protection Act which requires us to have an appropriate written policy explaining our security procedures, and data retention periods and we are required to retain this policy document and produce it to the Information Commissioner on request. Our policy is set out in the firm's Information Security Policy.

Details of current adequacy decisions can be requested from the Person Responsible for Data Protection Compliance.

KEEPING YOU SAFE FRAUD PREVENTION GUIDANCE FOR CLIENTS

You, and your money, are targets of fraud. Transactions between professionals and their clients are currently being actively targeted by fraudsters due to the large sums processed by us on your behalf. This is particularly true of law firms that conduct conveyancing transactions, debt recovery actions and estate administrations (payment of beneficiaries) but can apply to any type of professional practice where client money is held.

As you have instructed us to act for you, it is important that you understand:

1. What we do to help ensure that you do not become a victim of fraud.
2. Your responsibilities to reduce the risks of fraud.

OUR COMMITMENT TO YOU

1. We will ensure that we know you, our client.

We undertake careful checks before taking on any work, to ensure that you are who you say you are. For example, if you are selling a property, we will check that you do own the property to ensure that we do not transfer sale proceeds to a fraudster.

2. When we send you money, we will check to ensure that we transfer funds to your account.

We will always ask for your bank account details, either in a face-to-face meeting, or by hard copy letter sent by registered post. We can only make a payment to you as our named client, so please do not ask us to split monies across various accounts, pay other parties or beneficiaries etc. as we do not allow it and you will be able to do this quickly once monies are in your account.

3. We will provide our bank details at the start of the work and will not email you with changes.

Our bank account details are provided in our initial client care letter to you. We will never advise you of changes to our bank details by telephone or by email.

4. We will use secure methods of payment.

This invariably means CHAPS rather than immediate faster payments which are difficult to freeze if a fraud is later discovered.

5. We will take all reasonable steps to keep your data safe.

We have strict policies and procedures in place to keep your data safe. We store your data on encrypted systems that are fully compliant with the current Data Protection Regulations.

6. We will keep our electronic systems secure and up to date.

We have professional-grade anti-virus and anti-malware software and firewalls in place to help protect from 'phishing' and other cyber threats. We also have a policy of promptly installing relevant software updates and security patches on all work devices, including portable devices such as tablets and smart phones.

7. We will advise you of any known security breaches that may impact you.

A member of our compliance team will contact you by telephone or letter (not email) to advise you of any known security breach that may have compromised your email/information security.

8. We will only email you regarding your case or transaction using a company email address.

i.e.,
firstname.surname@amicuslaw.co.uk

YOUR SECURITY OBLIGATIONS

1. You will provide us with best contact details.

On or before the start of our work, we will ask for your contact details, and a preferred way of addressing you in communications. You should use the same email address, telephone number/s, mailing address where-ever possible, and anticipate further checks from us should you use other contact details in future.

2. You will communicate urgent instructions in person or by telephone.

You should not rely on us receiving or reading your emails, particularly if you are providing time-critical instructions.

3. You will never send us account details by email.

We will not accept bank details via email. You should send such details to us by registered post or come into our office personally. Please be understanding should we need to double-check anything that we think looks suspicious – this is for your benefit.

4. You will take all reasonable measures to keep your data and systems secure.

You will keep your computer and relevant mobile devices updated with the latest operating system updates, security patches, and anti-virus software.

You will inform us at the earliest opportunity if your email or devices become infected with a virus or other malware, or you think you have been hacked, or your security otherwise compromised.

TWELVE KEY STEPS TO PREVENT CYBER FRAUD

1. Ensure that your PC is protected behind an effective firewall and up-to-date anti-virus. Follow UK Government guidance at cyberaware.gov.uk/ to protect your home and business from cyber-attack and fraud.

2. Try not to use public Wi-Fi as you may be vulnerable to data interception. If you do need to use it then do not log in to email, online banking or make payments over public Wi-Fi. If essential only do so via an encrypted VPN connection.

3. If you use webmail for communicating with your professional advisors (Solicitors, Accountants, Financial Advisers etc.), then create a separate account for sharing information.

Do not respond to any messages other than those which are from the professional you are dealing with, including those purporting to be from their colleagues, without separately confirming by phone that such messages are legitimate.

4. Create strong, unique passwords, especially for your email account e.g., by using 3 random words (ideally including capital letters). E.g., mountainFestivalpidgeon or creating a memorable passphrase enhanced with a mix of letters, numbers, and special characters, e.g. 5hopp!ng@Harr0ds. The longer the words or phrase/sentence, the more secure it is likely to be.

5. Use a password manager where possible, for most of your accounts (but not your online banking accounts). If possible, use 2-factor authentication, and ensure that your password for your password manager is as strong as possible

(e.g., enhancing the 3 random word approach with numbers and special characters, e.g. m0unta!nFestivalP!g3on.

If you do not use a password manager, ensure you use a different strong password for each online service.

6. Never give out your usernames, passwords, or your one-time codes (from your Banking Security Token or mobile device) to anyone, no matter who they claim to be.

7. Pay little heed to emails. If your Bank or Solicitor (or anyone else legitimate) has something truly important to tell you (like they have detected fraud or need to verify your details) then they will contact, you in a more reliable way - they will not use email. If you have concerns, call them using a telephone number from a reliable source (e.g., a printed bank statement or bank card will have phone numbers for your bank).

8. Exchange sensitive information with your professional advisor only once at the outset of your instruction and ideally in-person. If you need to make a change, then do so securely.

9. Validate calls from your professional advisor using a shared secret which you can establish with them at the outset of your instruction. Agree not to exchange the secret via email.

10. If you use online banking, then your Bank will have included a message centre enabling you to send & receive messages securely. Only accept notifications and advisories from them using this method of communication; Do not act on telephone or email requests.

11. Do not invite anyone to remotely connect to your computer for any purpose, including IT support or security help, unless you personally know and trust them. Unsolicited callers are always fraudsters.

12. Use Block features available on your mobile phone and landline to blacklist any unsolicited callers or those who withhold their number. For example, in the UK the following service can be used: tpsonline.org.uk/
